

Case Study
Client:	Hydro Hotel
Project:	Major south coast hotel enhances guest comfort with permanent air conditioning installation

One of the south coast's leading independent hotels has made a substantial investment in a state of the art air conditioning system from Rapid Air Conditioning as part of a major refurbishment programme.

Hydro Hotel in Eastbourne, established in 1895, took the decision to have air conditioning installed within the restaurant, to enhance guest comfort, at the same time that the area underwent a major facelift.

Management at the 84-room hotel had seen the details of Rapid Air Conditioning – a division of Rapid Climate Control Ltd - in a trade publication and called them in to quote for the job.

The supply and installation of an energy efficient system combining ceiling cassette units and a ceiling concealed ducted system to provide both cooling and heating for the restaurant, was completed by Rapid's highly skilled team within a working week.

The system is now fully operational, providing a cool and fresh environment for diners and customers and is being supported by a comprehensive after-sales service and maintenance package.

Stephen Lee, General Manager at Hydro Hotel, commented: "We were highly impressed by Rapid's knowledge, experience and flexible approach, as well as their highly competitive pricing. They were positive about being able to design a system which could deliver what we expected as well as blending unobtrusively with the surroundings".

What they say:

"Overall we have been highly impressed by the company's service, innovative approach and attention to detail. We have also chosen to take out a maintenance contract with Rapid to maximise the efficiency and longevity of this investment to ensure the comfort of our guests well in to the future."
